About

I would describe myself as a highly curious person with a passion for technology and the things we can achieve with it. The biggest quality I possess is my ability to learn effectively. Through the process of teaching myself new concepts and honing my skills as an Engineer, I have established the right attitudes and systems that greatly improve my efficiency when trying to grasp a new concept, be it a new programming language, Dev-Ops practice, or anything else. I have excelled in every educational setting and work environment I have been involved in so far, and I am confident I will have a continued success in my career as a Software Engineer.

Work experience

 Sep 2022 - Nov 2022
2 month
Graduate in Trainee in IT
MOENCO

In the short period that I worked in this huge corporation, I was able to develop several microservices that automated business processes. I was also responsible for a greenfield project for which I created the first version of a full-stack web app. I had a good experience working under my line-manager and mentor Beakal (beakaly@moenco.com.et)

 Sep 2022 - Present
5 month
The projects I have been involved in
Personal and Organizational

I have three years of experience working with JavaScript for full-stack development. I have developed API Servers, Telegram Bots, Web-Apps, Admin Sites, Business Automation scripts and so on. Although most of my projects are deployed in private environments, you can look at the source code for all of my projects on my GitHub page.

 Jun 2022 - Present
8 month
Editor in chief for
AI and Robotics
Center of Excellence at AASTU
AASTU

I am working as the leader of an editorial team that is responsible for editing scientific papers which are in the scope of AI and Robotics and technical in nature. I coordinate and manage our team consisting of four active members in order to achieve our main objective, which is to make the articles submitted to us linguistically feat.

 Dec 2020 - Jan 2022
13 month
Co-founder and web developer.
etmilestone.com

Etmilestone is a start-up I co-founded with my partner out of our University dorm. We developed web and desktop based platforms which distributed complimentary educational material. I developed a complete e-learning website and a registration API. I hired and managed professional content creators, while also spearheading our marketing efforts.
